Seventh-day Adventist Church District Is Re-organized

Pastor W. P .Lawrence, pastor of the Appomattox and Guinea Mills Seventh-day Adventist churches, announced his acceptance of a call to the Tazewell and Richlands, Va., district, and said he would move some time in the first part of August. During the two and a half years of his stay in this area, Pastor Lawrence organized the Guinea Mills Company and a branch Sabbath School at Dillwyn, Va.. The Appomattox church has added property to their previous holdings, and shrubbery to the church lawn. Also, additions were made to the church furniture. Record amounts of tithes and mission offerings were raised, and a number of baptisms were held.

Pastor Lawrence said one of the factors leading him to accept this call is the eight-grade school which the Tazewell church operates, and the fact that his new district has more than twice the membership of his present pastorate.

The Appomattox church will be under the care of Pastor D. F. Bostian, of Lynchburg, who is already acquainted with many of the Appomattox church members. The Guinea Mills and Dillwyn groups will form a part of a new district.

Bible Baptist Church

A vivid new film, "Breath of Freedom," which has just been released by the Pocket Testament League, will be shown at the Bible Baptist Church on Sunday night, August 2, at 7:45. The public is cordially invited to see this film.

This film concerns the struggle for leadership in Africa. Christianity, Mohammedanism and Communism are alike going all out to capture this continent. With disquieting clarity, "Breath of Freedom" succeeds in making clear the basic struggle now raging for the African mind.

A few short years ago, Africa was ninety per cent illiterate. Most of the natives who could read had been taught by Christian missionaries. Today, literacy is increasing by leaps and bounds — and the Communists are furnishing most of the reading matter. The Scripture distribution campaigns of the Pocket Testament League, of which Alfred A. Kunz is International Director, takes on added significance because of the moment this is the largest single effert in the whole of Africa to place the Word of God in the hands of Africa's teeming millions.

A Crying Shame

Blanchardville, Wis. Safe-crackers who worked over three Blanchardville offices must have felt their night's work was a crying shame.

At a garage they practically demolished a safe, before opening it far enough to set off a tear gas cartridge that routed them. They moved on to a business office. This time the tear-gas cartridge went off sooner. Then they made a final attempt, at another garage. The safe there was empty.

Play safe — drive carefully.
